1. The first step in the process of the investigation is the identification of the problem. This is done by the investigator who is assigned to the case. The investigator must first determine the nature of the problem and the scope of the investigation. This is done by interviewing the complainant and the person(s) involved in the problem. The investigator must also determine the date and time of the incident and the location where it took place. This information is then used to develop a plan of action for the investigation.
